BATTERY F

CAPTAIN WILLIAMS will be remembered as the organizer of Battery F, who was so efficient in getting results with his men, while at the same time he kept their love and respect. His remarkable character has been a big factor in giving Battery F its standing.

BATTERY F of Bloomington was organized under Captain Kenneth Williams in April of 1917. Bryant Gelespie and Humphrey Barbour were made senior lieutenants. Claire Scott and Henry Springer were elected as junior lieutenants. As Gelespie and Springer were too young to receive commissions, Scott and Barbour became senior lieutenants, while the junior lieutenantcies were given to Earl Moore and Alan Buskirk. The battery was mustered in in May, and they were well drilled by the early part of August, at which time they left Bloomington for Fort Benjamin Harrison, and then to Camp Mills on Long Island. Battery F sailed for France after school began in the fall, and are now in the trenches.

BASIL L. WALTERS, ex-'18 is news editor of the weekly sheet. He is a member of Headquarters Section 617.

THE AMBULANCE SERVICE NEWS, published weekly by the soldiers at Allentown, Pennsylvania, is hailed by the International News Service as the "pioneer camp newspaper of America," and the National Board of Journalism credits it with being the best. It is a sixty-four-column paper, chuck full of camp news, features, art work, cartoons and stories of ambulance drivers. A pictorial supplement and a cartoon strip of "Buck Private Jones" add to the sheet's popularity. A staff of seven has put it out for eleven months and cleared over three thousand dollars. Its mailing list includes President Wilson and his Cabinet, all army officials, all training camps here and abroad, members of the consular service all over the globe, colleges, and several thousand paid subscribers.

CLIFFORD T. WARNER, '17 holds the position of city editor of the eight-column, eight-page news distributor.

I. U. GIFT FLAGS

Indiana University students and faculty women presented to the Ambulance Corps two flags of standard size, one Red Cross, the other college, which it is permitted to carry with it into action by army regulations. Each of the flags is of heavy flag silk, twenty-ty-five by nineteen inches, with an inch and a half gold fringe, and each will be mounted on a six-foot standard. The design of the Red Cross flag is the familiar red cross on the white field. The University flag is divided diagonally into two triangles, one of white and the other of red. The red field contains the University seal. The letters of the unit printed in gold are in the white field.

TRAINING CAMP

WHEN the announcement was first made of the first Reserve Officers Training Camp to be held at Fort Benjamin Harrison, at Indianapolis, beginning on May 15, 1917, and lasting until August, there was a rush on the part of Indiana University students and alumni, who wanted to do their part for Uncle Sam.

Of the hundred or more students who applied thirty-one were admitted. These men received full university credit so that they would not be handicapped on their return to school after the war.

THOSE IRRESISTIBLE UNIFORMS!

I. U. MEN IN FIRST TRAINING CAMP, FORT HARRISON

The camp was to have opened on the eighth of May, but owing to the large number of applicants it was delayed until the fifteenth of May, and lasted till August fifteenth.

Col. Edwin F. Glenn, who commanded the troops on the Mexican border a year ago, was placed in command. The camp at Fort Harrison was used for the men of the R. O. T. C. from Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. There were five thousand men from these States.

The requirements for admission were strict—only men over twenty years and nine months of age, who passed a very rigid physical and mental examination, being admitted. A very large percentage of the Indiana University students passed these examinations.

The first month of the camp all men received the same instruction, such as squad and company movements. At the end of the month they were divided into five branches of the service, giving them special training in these different departments. The five departments were the infantry, cavalry, field artillery, engineers and coast artillery. The men who were placed in the coast artillery were sent to Fortress Monroe, Virginia, to complete their training.

Besides the regular drilling that the men were given, military tactics were also studied, requiring much time to be spent with text books. In spite of the amount of work, the men enjoyed the life. Never a week went by without several company dances being given in Indianapolis.

The three professors of I. U. who were in the first camp received commissions as captains, Professors Seavey and Campbell in the infantry and Prof. Joseph Wright in the coast artillery.

Practically every part of the State was represented by Indiana University students and alumni in the first camp. Among the more prominent students who received commissions are the following:

Captains—William D. Beeler, Clark Springer, Paul H. Weiland and Travis Williams.

First Lieutenants—Archie D. Erehart, Emil W. McCoy, Allen B. Maxwell and William Ochiltree.

Second Lieutenants—C. S. Bushman, Eugene J. Cadue, Howard Clark, Frank R. Elliott, Otto Englehart, Vedder Gard, Ralph G. Hastings, E. E. Lindley, Everett P. McCoy, Freal McIntosh, Louis K. Murchie, Spencer G. Pope, Noel C. Ruddell, Norman Schlemmer, Wayne Schmidt, Clem J. Steigmeyer, William M. Strack, Chester E. Wiley and Ivan Zaring.

After a few weeks' interval the second Reserve Officers' Training Camp was opened, in the latter part of August, and continued until about Thanksgiving. The opening of this camp found ninety men from Indiana University who had successfully passed the examinations and were accepted. Again the faculty was represented by three of its members, viz., Profs. Paul V. McNutt and C. W. Snow and Instructor

Matthew Winters. A few of the better known students who entered this camp were the following: Joseph K. Barclay, Ray D. Casey, John D. Diggs, Raymond Haffner, Alader H. Hamborsky, Christian H. Hartke, John H. Keck, Prentice Knox, Harlan McCoy, Herman B. Nussbaum, Earl M. Peckinbaugh, Ernest V. Shockley, John L. Slick, J. Ward Starr, Calvin Perry Stone, Sherman Minton, Cope Hanly and Jack Blackburn.

Many of the Indiana men who received commissions were stationed at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Kentucky, and at Camp Shelby at Hattiesburg, Mississippi. Others were stationed at the various cantonments in the country.

ARBUS

The first Indiana University man to land as a United States soldier in France was First Lieut. Ted Johnson, son of Herald Whetstone Johnson, for years at the head of the Latin Department of Indiana University. Lieutenant Johnson landed in France as an officer of an infantry regiment. He had served as an officer of the Indiana national guard on the Mexican border and was at the officers' school at Fort Leavenworth when the Pershing expedition was made up. Lieutenant Johnson is twenty-three years old.

YARN SHOP

In the West Parlors of the Student Building is the University Yarn Shop, where girls may learn to knit as well as to receive yarn for knitting. The Woman's League originated the idea of having a real shop at the University and it has since developed rapidly.

The first shipment of yarn was received in March and since then there have been two more shipments, ninety-eight pounds being received in the last one. As the Arbutus goes to press there are two hundred girls who knit there now and there is plenty of material for more workers.

The shop is open on Tuesdays and Fridays from 2:30 to 5:30, when beginners may come to the shop to receive their material and learn to knit. In the last shipment, sweater yarn was also received, so that beginners might learn something easier than socks.

As a token of appreciation, the war mothers and girls of the University, under the direction of Dean Ruby E. C. Mason and the Woman's League, sent Christmas boxes to all the Indiana University boys in service. Each girl chose a soldier from the list of boys in service, to whom she might send a box. Several weeks of preparations preceded the packing of the boxes. The girls knitted sweaters, wristlets and socks for the soldiers and the war mothers made 648 pounds of fruit cake and candles. Greetings from Dr. Bryan were included with the other gifts. The climax of the undertaking was the preparation of the boxes for shipment, when the girls met to pack over six hundred of them. Letters from the boys show how the gifts were appreciated in camp and trench.

CAMPUS WAR RELIEF FUND

The Woman's League Board, desiring to increase the efficiency of the women of the University in war relief work, authorized a finance committee in February to insure materials for the great number of hours of war work service pledged by the women students at the second semester registration. This committee had charge of the raising of a Campus War Relief Fund, which was contributed by the students and faculty. The sum of $550 a month was pledged for the remainder of the semester. This amount is used to provide material for the Red Cross Surgical Dressings Shop, the Campus Yarn Shop, the French Relief and Y. W. C. A. Civilian Relief.

RED CROSS WORK SHOP

In May, 1917, Indiana University sent Louise Stubbins and Elizabeth Sage to Chicago for an intensive course in the making of surgical dressings. They returned prepared to teach others, and at the beginning of the summer session they offered a Red Cross course in that work. The same classes were offered in the winter semesters.

Early in November there was opened in Kirkwood 4 a Red Cross workshop, where coeds and townswomen might come to prepare gauze dressings and bandages for use overseas. So eagerly was the opportunity seized that between that time and April, 1918, thousands and thousands of pieces were shipped. The workers crowded the one room until the big room, Kirkwood 3, was added to the shop. There are tables now to accommodate more than one hundred and fifty women at one time.

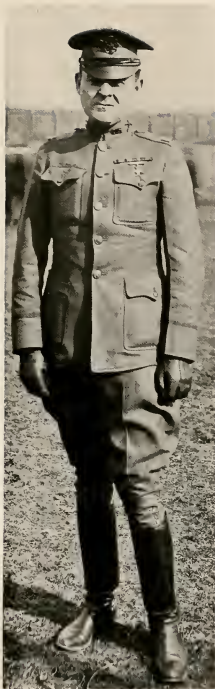

The uniform is a white apron and white cap. Miss Sage and Miss Stubbins are permitted to wear read gauze caps and their assistants may wear blue gauze.

Miss Georgia Finley, formerly instructor in the Home Economics Department, received an appointment from Washington as chief dietitian of Base Hospital No. 32. The hospital sailed on December 3 and is now seeing service somewhere in France.

Before Miss Finley left, the women of the University presented a wrist watch to her at the same time that they presented comfort kits to Battery F.

CAPT. ARTHUR T. DALTON

MILITARY SCIENCE

A Department of Military Science and Tactics was established in Indiana University during the spring semester of 1917. The University was able to comply with all the Government requirements for a Reserve Officers' Training Corps and a training corps was officially installed. Capt. Campbell King, of the Seventh Infantry, was detailed by the Government to establish the military department. Under his direction three companies were organized and drilled in the school of the soldier, school of the squad and school of the company. Drill was held every morning at 6:15. When the weather did not permit out-of-door drilling instruction in first aid was given in the gymnasium. On Friday of each week the companies were drawn up in battalion formation and were reviewed by Captain King.

In November, 1917, Capt. Edwin J. Nowlen, also of the Seventh Infantry, was detailed to take the place of Captain King, who had been called into active service. Captain Nowlen supervised the drill of six companies, three of which met in the morning and three in the afternoon. During the months of bad weather Captain Nowlen lectured on the Infantry Drill Regulations, Interior Guard Duty and Problems in Artillery Work. In January, Captain Nowlen was relieved from detail at Indiana University and was called into active service with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. In his place Capt. Arthur T. Dalton was detailed to the University.

Captain Dalton took charge in January of 1918. The 9:30 period was set aside and classes moved up to make a regular time for all the companies to drill together. The six companies were formed into battalions and a regiment. Student officers were appointed to command the regiment, with rank according to their class, ability and former training. Officers' school was established on Monday and Thursday afternoon, and non-com school on Tuesday and Wednesday. Battalion parades and regimental parades and reviews showed the great progress the student-soldiers had made. Uniforms were secured for every man, and when in March Major M. B. Garber came to inspect the regiment he termed their progress little short of remarkable. By order of the War Department Sergt. Stanley Jones, retired, came to act as an assistant to the commandant, Captain Dalton. Much of the credit for the progress is due to Captain Dalton, who has made a place for himself in the hearts and respect of everyone in the University.

A REAL RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CAMP

In the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Indiana University the Government is training men to be officers in the future armies of the United States. Indiana University has complied with all the Government requirements for the establishment of the Training Corps and Indiana University students given all the opportunities of the R. O. T. C. When the student completes his full course in the Military Science and Tactics Department, and receives a diploma from the University, his name is placed on the Government list of those eligible to receive commissions in the Reserve Army.

ARBUTUS

You should count yourselves as in spirit enlisted men in the United States Army. Your first thought every day should be in what you can most effectively serve your country in the greatest crisis in its history. If we are worthy to enjoy the liberty won for us by Washington and by Lincoln, we must now fight for it anew.

—WILLIAM L. BRYAN.

SOLDIER VERSES

THE favorable attention of literary critics has been drawn toward the poetry written since the war began. All through the ages poetry has been the medium for the expression of fine emotion. And now we have poetry—fine poetry—written by soldiers who have gone to fight, and by mothers, sweethearts and sisters who “keep the home fires burning.”

The following “Soldier Verse” was written by Frank Davidson, formerly English instructor here and now with the Indiana University Ambulance Corps in France:

SOLDIER VERSE CONTRASTS

A PICTURE

Near the arbor's trailing vine,
Clad in purest white,
Fair hair draped across the brow,
So you stand tonight.
Stand and gaze out at the stars
Through your wistful eyes,
Which for brilliancy outdo
Summer's jeweled skies.

* * * * *

Stretched full length upon the rod
In a camp of Mars,
I lift pleading hands and eyes
To the self-same stars.

THE TWO SENTRIES

Wrapped in the darkness of night,
Drowsily waiting the light,
He paces his beat alone—
Sudden his path is with violets blue,
The drizzly rain is the spring's soft dew—
And he thinks of naught but home.

Bathed in the grate's dull glow,
Far away from the foe,
She dreams of the battle afar—
The wind is a sigh of pain,
The shadows are forms of the slain—
And she thinks of naught but war.

UNDER THE STARS

As I lie upon my cot
Gazing at the skies,
Stars fade out and I discern
Fairy forms arise;
Here and there they dart across
Heaven's darkened dome,
Trip with winged feet the stairs—
Silently turn home.

* * * * *

Reveille! I look about,
Bright my cot appears;
“Blankets wet with dew,” said Jim;
“Dew?” I quavered—“Tears!”
“Fairies quit their play last night
And with tear drops sealed
Eyes, which if they wake again
Wake on bloody field.”

MEMORY

Dreams of a path-marked campus
Love of the things that last;
Truth springing up like the Phoenix
From ashes gray of the past;
A word like a light connecting
New paths with the old we've trod,
Some of us call it memory—
Others call it God.

—Frank Davidson

Sergeant Kenyon Stevenson, ex-'18, was to have been editor of the 1918 Arbutus, but he was called to the colors in September, 1917, and entered the 325th Field Artillery at Camp Zachary Taylor. He acted as clerk in that battery until January of this year, when he entered the third officers' training camp. In all the book work and drill work of camp life he has excelled. His training school is almost at an end now (April, 1918).

SERGEANT STEVENSON

While in the University, Mr. Stevenson was always to be found where there was constructive work to do. He was editor-in-chief of the Daily Student '16-'17, was business manager of the Hoosier and was one of the two junior assistants of the Arbutus. He won the inter-class discussion of 1916, and was a member of the Sigma Delta Chi, the Union Board, History Club and Writers Club and of Tau Kappa Alpha. Mr. Stevenson was an economics major and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

SOME MESS!

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

BESIDES supplying Uncle Sam's forces with no less than twelve hundred men during the first year of America's part in the war, Indiana University is also doing her part in another way toward winning the war. Early in the year a wireless telegraphy class was organized under Prof. F. A. Molby, in order to prepare men for service in the Signal Corps. This course soon became one of the most popular in the University, especially for men who expected to be drafted before the end of the year, and within two weeks after the course started over thirty had enrolled.

The course was not limited to University students and quite a number of men from Bloomington took advantage of the chance to train for a commission while waiting to be called. Before the first semester was finished several of the men had left the class and some of these are now in the Signal Corps, probably on account of the work taken here.

The course was continued the second semester and will be continued as long as the Government has need for men in this branch of the service. Out of the class there are probably a score of men now who would be able to pass an examination for entrance into this branch of the army, and all are of the opinion that the course is one of the best things that exist, patriotically speaking, at Indiana.

THE UNIVERSITY BAND

Without the Indiana University Band all the athletic contests would fizzle out, so far as pep is concerned. The band is one of the biggest joy-making factors on the campus. Under the leadership of Archie Warner the band has just completed the most successful year of its existence. Its personnel has been enlarged and its organization improved. Perhaps its most important function has been the great part it has taken in the drilling of the soldiers. Marching to a band has added zest to the military training.

Athletics

COACH EWALD O. STIEHM

Ewald (Jumbo) Stiehm came to Indiana from Nebraska University and became Director of Intercollegiate Athletics, Acting Director of Physical Education and Head Coach of Football. His success as Coach of Football at Nebraska was nothing less than phenomenal, and the results of his past two seasons at Indiana University give promise of still greater results. Coach Stiehm is a graduate of Wisconsin, and while there won his letter in football, basketball and track. His coaching has attracted nation-wide attention and he is considered one of the foremost coaches of Intercollegiate Athletics in the United States.

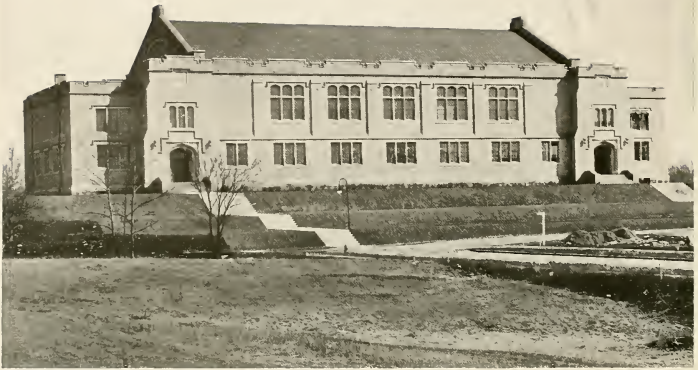

D A W N O F A N E W E R A

IN the past two years Athletic Director "Jumbo" Stiehm and his staff of capable assistants have brought forth the dawn of a new era in athletics for Indiana University. Never before in the history of the State School have Indiana's athletic teams shown as much real spirit and "fight." The big mentor has taught his men not to know when to stop fighting, and this one fact, more than anything else, prophesies the future of Indiana's athletics.

The decisive and clean-cut victory over Purdue on November 24th last was a startling revelation of what a team can do when it gets "blood in its eye." With two of his stars barred at the eleventh hour, Coach Stiehm faced what seemed the almost hopeless task of reorganizing his offense; but he won, and what is more, Indiana found out what she could do when she fights, and 37 to 0 tells the story.

Many of Indiana's athletes have gone to put forth this same fight into the more noble, more strenuous and more heroic game of War, but their spirit still remains and the younger men who are left feel the spirit of their courage and ability, and the Dawn promises to break forth into the Day. Indiana's athletic supporters were shown by the 1918 Basketball team what a group of new men can do when properly coached and fully inspired by the spirit of the New Era.

Indiana's athletic teams are no more in the class where they are content with almost winning—they have the taste of victory and the fighting spirit, which promise much for the future of our athletics.

INDIANA'S GYMNASIUM

The New Gymnasium, although only in its third year, has already been the scene of as many thrilling battles as the famous "No Man's Land." Two State High School Basketball Tournaments have been staged in it, to say nothing of many Conference battles.

Many of the warriors, however, have gone to battle somewhere across the seas.

WINNER OF ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP MEDAL

Dewitt Mullett, of Columbia City, varsity football and basketball man, was awarded the Western Conference Athletic Scholarship Medal for the year 1916-17. The trophy is awarded each year in each of the Big Ten schools to the best scholar athlete. The winner is chosen by the Athletic Committee with the ratification of the University Board of Trustees. Mullett was the star end on the 1916 Varsity football team and proved a back guard of all-conference class on the 1916-17 Varsity basketball team.

Hearing the call to arms, Mullett joined the colors last spring and is now testing his brawn on the battle field.

WINNER OF GIMBLE PRIZE

Wilbur J. Dalzell, of Lawrence, Indiana, was awarded the Jake Gimble Prize for the year 1917-18. The prize consists of the interest on $500 for one year and a gold medal. It is given each year to the student in athletics, of the Junior or Senior class, who shows the best mental attitude on the athletic field. Dalzell has been a member of the wrestling squad for three years and was a member of the 1917 football squad.

GEORGE M. COOK

THE "I" MEN'S ASSOCIATION

The organization which keeps the "I" Men in touch with each other and the University is the "I" Men's Association. Founded some years ago by George M. Cook, it has continued to grow and wield a mighty influence for the welfare of Indiana's athletics. "Dad" Cook has been its president since its founding and his untiring efforts have borne splendid results. He is one of the alumni members of the Athletic Association and has been a constant worker for the University.

He is the editor of the "I' Men's Notes," published several times a year for the purpose of keeping the alumni "I" Men in touch with University activities along athletic lines.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

REVIEW OF THE 1917 SEASON

WHEN Coach Ewald O. Stiehm took charge of the football squad on September 20th his entire squad numbered only twelve men. Many Crimson athletes were serving the Red, White and Blue and only three veterans were numbered among the number who reported. It looked as though the war had played havoc with football prospects, but Stiehm had a nucleus in the men who had played on the Freshman team and he was equal to the occasion. He welded his small squad into a real fighting unit and Indiana enjoyed the most successful football season since 1910.

INDIANA 50, FRANKLIN 0

Franklin was no match for the Crimson and went down to defeat by the score of 50 to 0. The men worked smoothly together and the fans were at once convinced that the team would show unusual form in later contests.

INDIANA 51, WABASH 0

The Scarlet came to Bloomington with the expectation of victory. However, they proved little resistance to the powerful Crimson attack, and the Hoosiers marched down the field for one touchdown after another. It was not until fifty-one points had been registered and the entire second team had been put in that they were stopped. With only one more game before the opening of the Conference schedule at Minneapolis, hope ran high, and Crimson fans already began to predict a victory in the first Big Ten contest.

St. Louis proved to be the strongest team of any to date. It offered strong resistance, but the Crimson attack ran up a score of forty points. However, it was a costly victory. Several of the star players were injured and it was evident that Stiehm's men would have to go into their first Conference game handicapped by serious injuries to Captains Hathaway and Ewert.

INDIANA 9, MINNESOTA 33

With Captain Hathaway out of the game and two of the linemen injured, it looked as though the Gophers were almost sure to win. However, Indiana was not willing to concede them anything like a victory, and according to Minnesota papers gave the powerful Gopher eleven the scare of their football lives—holding them to the score of 12 to 9 in the first half and scoring nine points to their six in the second quarter. In fact, the Crimson scored more points on Minnesota than any other team in the Conference. The Gopher backs proved too strong in the last half, however, and the Crimson went down to defeat. With the Ohio State game only two weeks off, Crimson fans were wondering as to their strength with last year's Conference champions—led by All-American Chick Harley.

HESS LIFTS ONE

INDIANA 3, OHIO STATE 26

It was one real exhibition of football and the ability of one man. Throughout the first quarter, while Harley was out of the game, Indiana completely outplayed Coach Wilcie's men and he was compelled to put in his star halfback. With Harley in the game things began to look different, and dodging and sidestepping Indiana's tacklers, he piled up twenty-six points—every one that Ohio State scored, in fact. Indiana succeeded in scoring by the aerial route near the end of the game when Captain Hathaway executed a perfect place kick. Indiana had the satisfaction of scoring as many points as any other Conference team against the Buckeyes, who again won the championship.

"HATH" KICKS GOAL AFTER TOUCHDOWN

INDIANA KICKING OFF

INDIANA 35, DEPAUW 0

The Methodists came to Bloomington confident of victory, but their hopes were cruelly shattered. The Crimson attack opened up and took vengeance on them for the two previous defeats.

INDIANA 37, PURDUE 0

On the eve of the battle Purdue protested two of Indiana's star players, and it looked as though it were all off. Coach Stiehm faced the task of completely reorganizing his offense and defense. The big coach, however, proved equal to the occasion. He corralled his men and instilled a fighting spirit into them that was never before equalled in an Indiana team. Playing as they played at no other time during the season, Indiana completely outplayed their old-time rivals.

LOOK OUT, PURDUE! HERE COMES A PASS.

ARBUS

FOOTBALL FOR 1918

James W. Ingles, tackle and mainstay of the Crimson team, has been elected to lead the 1918 eleven. Captain Ingles is a Junior and for the past two seasons has been one of the hardest workers on the Crimson teams. He is full of fight and should be able to keep his men in fighting trim throughout the season.

PROSPECTS

Three-fourths of the 1917 squad have joined the colors, and Coach Stiehm is again facing the task of moulding an eleven out of practically inexperienced men. This year's Freshman eleven should furnish excellent material and with this year's result in mind, Crimson supporters are predicting a successful season in 1918.

THE 1917 FOOTBALL TEAM

Top Row — Stiehm (head coach),
Heuring, Keever, Hess, Howard,
Bowser, Ferguson (trainer).

Middle Row—Minton, Ingles, Ewert,
Pierce, Julius, Hathaway (captain),
Risley.

Bottom Row — Rathbun (assistant coach), Faust, Cravens, Evans (assistant coach).

An abundance of physical courage and still greater determination are required to enable a man to play football throughout the length of the season. Here are the men who survived the cuts and stuck it through till the end. They are the men who fought Indiana's battles on the football field and much credit is theirs.

NINE FOR THE TEAM!

1918

ARBITUS

HATHAWAY, RUSSELL G.

Playing his last year on the varsity "Hath" was at his best. He was a power of strength in the line.

INGLES, JAMES

Jimmy has learned all of his football under Coach Stiehm. He was one of the hardest workers on the team and was the unanimous choice for captain of 1918 eleven.

JULIUS, RUSSELL

Julius has finished his second year at guard of the Crimson eleven and has proved unusual ability to stop plays headed his way.

MINTON, ROSCOE

Minton was a big sophomore recruited from last year's freshman eleven. He distinguished himself this year by his ability to run the ends and throw forward passes.

HUERING, BYRON

Byron was the speed demon of the Crimson. He used this speed to advantage in the Purdue game, when he circled the Boilermaker ends for long gains.

PIERCE, JAMES H.

"Babe" was the youngest and biggest man on the team. He played his first year on the Crimson, and proved himself to be one of the best centers Indiana football followers had seen for some time.

RISLEY, ELLIOT C.

"Ris" performed at end on the varsity last fall. His speed and ability to run interference made him one of the most dependable performers on the team.

FAUST, FRANK

Although Faust was the smallest man on the team, he played a snappy game at quarter.

ARTISTS

HOWARD, LYNN W.

"Tubby" was the most consistent ground gainer on the Crimson eleven. After distinguishing himself as one of the best fullbacks that had ever donned a Crimson uniform, he was ruled ineligible before the game with Purdue.

CRAVENS, BERNARD K.

"Benny" ran the team well at quarter. He was considered the best quarterback in the State.

BOWSER, HAROLD

Bowser played halfback last fall and hit the line for consistent gains. He played his last game of football with the Crimson against Purdue.

KEEVER, CHARLES H.

Keever is a Junior and played second year in the back field. He played his best game against Purdue.

HESS, JACK S.

Playing end, Hess pulled several forward passes out of the air which netted long gains for the Crimson.

EWERT, HOWARD

Ewert was one of the most aggressive players in the line. He stopped many plays that came around his side of the line and was considered the hardest tackler on the team.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL

Coach Rathbun had a large Freshman squad to work with last fall. Although not equal, perhaps, to the squad of 1916, this year's Freshman team kept up the good work and gave the Varsity all they were looking for in the way of practice. It is rumored that on one or two occasions they defeated the Varsity, but that is not conclusively known.

Plenty of action marked the Ohio State game at Indianapolis. In fact, it was up and at 'em from the word go. The Crimson gave Coach Wilcie's men a good run for their money, Harley being the only man who could penetrate the Indiana line.

THE 1918 BASKETBALL TEAM

Coach Evans had but one "I" Man with which to start his basketball team and the prospects were not hopeful. However, good material was discovered in last year's Freshman squad, and with the faithful practice and careful coaching, the team succeeded in surprising everyone with its record.

Top Row

Evans (coach), Zellars, Huxford, Ingles, Jeffries, Ferguson and Trainer.

Bottom Row

REVIEW OF 1917-18 BASKETBALL SEASON

Dana M. Evans was Stiehm's choice for Varsity Basketball and Track Coach and Assistant Football Coach. He came to Indiana from Beloit College, where he used to be an opponent of Coach Stiehm at Ripon. He has had many years' experience in coaching and training athletes and knows athletics.

At the beginning of the 1917-18 Basketball season, Coach Evans had only two men on his squad who had played intercollegiate basketball. He succeeded in imparting to his men his thorough knowledge of the game, and the Crimson ended the season in a five-sided tie for fourth place with Ohio State, Purdue, Chicago and Illinois. Every Conference game that was lost was close and in either of the three games lost three baskets would have turned the tide. With the exception of Captain Bowser, every member of the squad will be eligible to play next season. With Phillips as the 1919 captain, a strong quintet can be expected next year. Seven men qualified for monograms under the ruling of the Athletic Committee. They are as follow: Captain Bowser, Phillips, Zellar, Von-Tress, Jeffries, Easton and Stahr.

ARBUTUS

PHILIP H. BOWSER
Captain

'Phil' finished his athletic career at Indiana University when the 1918 basketball schedule was finished. He captained the team in fine style as well as playing a good game at center. Although handicapped by sickness, the Crimson captain finished his best year in the net game. Bowser's home is in Syracuse, Ind.

EDWARD C. VONTRESS.

Although playing his first year of intercollegiate athletics, "Von" was there with the goods at all times and was one of the surest shots on the team. His value was shown in his ability to bring the ball out of dangerous territory. He comes from Vincennes, Ind.

ARDITH LOWELL
PHILLIPS

The center of the offense and defense was built around this sturdy floor guard. Phillips played in every minute of every conference game and his remarkable endurance and hard playing made him deserving of the captaincy for the 1919 basketball quintet. Before entering the University, he was a star on the Amo High School team.

WILFRED M. MCFARLAND

"Mac" did not finish the season with the squad, but answered the call to arms and entered training in the Great Lakes Training Station the first of February. He aided materially in the Crimson's victory over the Michigan five at Ann Arbor. His home is in Vincennes.

JAMES W. INGLES

"Jimmy" did not get in enough games to receive his letter under the ruling but gave good account for himself while in the play. His outstanding feature was a field basket caged from the center of the floor in the Wabash game at Crawfordsville. He believes there was some mistake. He replaced Stahr at back guard. He comes from Indianapolis.

WILLARD J. STAHR

"One of the smallest men on the squad but one of the hardest workers—in the game every minute." Very seldom the Crimson's opponents would have an easy shot and the low scores that were made show the good guarding of Stahr. He not only played a good game at back guard but would go down the floor and cage his usual basket. In the Ohio State game he received a sprained ankle, which kept him out of the game only a short time. Hagerstown, Ind., is his home.

WILLIAM RICHARD EASTON

Substituted in the two Michigan games. Dick produced in fine style with field baskets, which won the games for the Crimson. At the first of the season he was used only in the last part of the games because of his endurance, but he played every minute of the last game with Iowa and made eight of the eleven points scored against the Hawkeyes. He was formerly a Bloomington High School star.

URBAN B. JEFFRIES

"Jeff" changed off with Captain Bowser at center. He played his best games with the Ohio State five at Bloomington and the Iowa quintet at Iowa City. He is extremely light for the pivot position, but worked hard in every game he entered. His home is in Rockville, Ind.

WILLIAM M. ZELLER

Playing his second year on the varsity, "Bill" displayed remarkable ability in caging the ball under the basket. He was the high-point scorer on the Crimson quintet and his baskets came at times when the games were in danger. He is a hard worker and much can be expected from him next season. His home is in Brazil, Ind.

THE 1918 FRESHMEN TEAM

Bottom Row—Klink, Buckner, Thorn, Lohrei, Dean, Dennis.

Coach Rathbun had a strong Freshman squad with which to work, and he developed a fast quintet, which gave the Varsity many hard games. Several of the men are excellent prospects for next year, and with their preliminary training should be a big asset to the team.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TOURNEY

The 1918 State High School Basketball tournament was the most successful of any held at Indiana University. The crowds filled the New Gymnasium to its capacity and as the games progressed the large seating facilities would not accommodate the people wishing to witness the games. The competition in this tournament has never been equalled. Although Anderson and Lebanon stood out as the strongest aggregations, many other schools had teams of which they could boast. Bloomington, Huntington, Martinsville, Rockville, Montmorenci and Rochester had good teams in the tournament.

Bottom Row—G. Gardner, Grater, Smith, J. Gardner.

THE WINNING HIGH SCHOOL FIVE

Lebanon's High School team retained its hold on the State title in Basketball for 1918. The championship game was played between Lebanon and Anderson, and the final count of 24 to 20 in favor of Lebanon was not determined until five minutes of extra play had been had. The first half was extremely close, with Lebanon having the slight edge on Anderson, 9 to 8. The second half was featured by the brilliant playing of Adams, of Lebanon, and Cannon, of Anderson. With three minutes to play, the score was 20 to 19 in favor of Anderson. White tied the score with a free throw. Time ended 20 to 20. Coming back with a spurt in the overtime period, Lebanon secured two field goals, and with them the title. Lebanon now leads all other Indiana high schools in State Basketball Championships, having won three out of the eight tournaments.

PHI DELTA THETA QUINTET

INTERFRATERNITY BASKETBALL

History repeated itself and the Interfraternity basketball tournament was again a nip-and-tuck race between the Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Nu quintets. The series ended with these teams in a tie, both having won twelve games and lost one. Sigma Nu seemed to have the edge, because of having defeated the Phi Deltas 15 to 3 during the tournament. Delta Upsilon, however, had succeeded in defeating Sigma Nu 14 to 12, and this tied the series. In the Championship game between Phi Delt and Sigma Nu, Phi Delt came back strong and succeeded in wiping out the sting of last year's defeat by the score of 11 to 5. Sigma Nu was playing without the services of their center, while Captain Pierce of the Phi Delta startled the crowd with three baskets from the middle of the floor.

THE 1917 BASEBALL SQUAD

The reputation of Indiana in the world of College baseball was not only sustained, but strengthened, last spring by the excellent showing of the Crimson nine under the direction of Coach Whisman. Some sterling players were developed as the weeks passed, and victories were scored over every Conference team played, among whom were Illinois University, Ohio State University (Conference Champions), Iowa University and Purdue University. The outstanding feature of the season was the pitching of Captain "Big Ed" Ridley. Twelve letters were awarded.

Standing — Ferguson (trainer), Buschmann, Bottenfield, Smith, Ridley, Rust, Nelson, Kunkle, Whisman (coach).

Sitting—Schmidt, Isenhower, Schuler, Rauschenbach, Swayne, Johnson, Rayl.

REVIEW OF THE 1917 SEASON

Indiana's 1917 baseball team finished third in the "Big Ten" Conference. The season was featured with a memorable seventeen-inning victory over Purdue 1 to 0 and a 7 to 2 victory over Ohio State's championship nine, Indiana being the only Conference team that was able to send the Buckeyes down to defeat.

Before the start of the regular season a Southern trip was taken in Big League style, during which the best teams in the South were met, including such teams as the University of Kentucky, University of Tennessee, Mercer College, University of Georgia, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. As a result of this preliminary training the "Whiz-men" returned in fine shape for the start of the Conference race.

"BIG ED" RIDLEY
Baseball Captain, 1917

The first Conference game was played on April 21st and resulted in an 8 to 1 victory over Northwestern. Captain Ridley was never in danger. A return game was played with Northwestern at Evanston on May 4th, but lost 5 to 1. Kunkel pitched good ball, but the team suffered from cold and too much Crissman. The Purple hurler struck out 15 men and allowed but 4 hits. The next day the Crimson journeyed to Iowa City, where a ninth-inning rally won for Indiana 5 to 4.

Two victories followed in three days and Indiana supporters began to see visions of a Conference Flag. The first victory was over Ohio State 7 to 2, and was the only defeat Ohio State suffered throughout the entire season. The other victory was over Illinois 5 to 0. Captain Ridley worked in both games and pitched remarkable ball. These victories put Indiana in a tie with Ohio State for first place in the Conference, and the next game, on May 18th, with Ohio State, at Columbus, was recognized as a championship game. Ridley pitched his third game in six days, and allowed but six hits, but lost 7 to 2. Illinois won the next game 8 to 1—Ridley being backed by one hit and six errors. This put Indiana out of the race as far as the championship was concerned.

This fact was overlooked, however, when the team staged a remarkable comeback and won the never-to-be-forgotten seventeen-inning game over the Boilermakers. Kunkel started on the mound for Indiana and pitched runless ball for nine innings. Neither side had scored, so Whisman sent Ridley in to hold Purdue. The eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth innings came and still no scores. During the fifteenth and sixteenth innings the Purdue hurler weakened and in the seventeenth "Curley" Rayl cracked out a clean double, which sent over the only run of the game.

BASEBALL FOR 1918

Guy L. Rathbun came to Indiana from Nebraska, where he was closely associated with the regime of Athletic Director Stiehm. As football assistant and coach of swimming, wrestling and baseball, he supplements the athletic staff gathered by E. O. Stiehm for the training of Indiana's athletes. He attended Chicago Y. M. C. A. Training School and New York Physical Normal and has been for years a prominent Y. M. C. A. Physical Director. His coaching record in academic and college circles is rather unique, he having developed over a score of championship teams in all lines of sports. Under his tutelage this year's eleven should uphold Indiana's previous standing in Conference baseball circles.

GUY L. RATHBUN
Baseball and Wrestling Coach

"RED" RAUSCHENBACH
Baseball Captain 1918

WILLARD RAUSCHENBACH, better known on the diamond as "Red," and the only letter man on the 1918 baseball squad, was appointed captain of the Crimson nine by action of the Athletic Committee. The Crimson captain won his letter playing third base on the 1917 team, but Coach Rathbun opened the season with "Red" at short, and then the plucky player took the backstop position. Captain Rauschenbach displayed ability as a leader on the field and did his part behind the bat and with the big stick. He comes from Stilwell, Ind.

"TUBBY"

RUSSELL SCOTT JULIUS was one of the first men to report for indoor practice, and although a big man, is very active around first, and alternates with Captain Rauschenbach behind the bat. He lives in Bloomington.

"PETE"

PHARES NEWTON HIATT is playing his second year on the Varsity, and with his clever fielding and base running, he promises to be one of the mainstays of the Crimson throughout the 1918 season. "Pete" hails from Richmond, Ind.

"JACK"

JACK DRISCOLL, one of the stars of last year's Freshman squad. Jack is a consistent hitter and his arm proves deadly to a runner trying to score on a fly. He came up the Monon from Jeffersonville and is a dependable man.

"CASEY"

PAUL B. CASEBEER started the season at third base. Casey not only plays a good game in the field, but gets his share of hits. He lives at Newport, Ind.

BATMAN

GORDON W. BATMAN, of last year's Freshman team, developed into a snappy second baseman, playing his position to perfection and putting lots of pep into the work of the team. Mitchel, Ind., is his home town.

"SUTTIE"

ALVIN SUTHEIMER, although handicapped by sickness at the opening of the season, played a good game at the initial sack. "Suttie" hails from Evansville.

"CRACKER"

FRANK F. FAUST, the midget southpaw twirler, did good work for his first year on the Varsity. He has the knack of fielding his position, and can hit 'em when they're needed. He claims Covington, Ind., as a home town.

1918

THE 1917 TRACK SQUAD

The 1917 Track Team upheld the honor of Crimson on track and field very creditably. Coach Cohn developed a well-balanced team, which competed with such strong aggregations as Northwestern and Ohio State. Eight monograms were awarded to the following men: Captain Pope, Heuring, Williams, Luther, Keeling, Miller, Crosby, and Acre.

Top Row—Blattman, Thomas, Mogge, Barbour, Kemper, Heuring.
Middle Row—Julius, Smith, Webb, Lahr, Lowden, Keeling, Eagleson, Cohn (coach).

REVIEW OF 1917 TRACK SEASON

Coach Cohn had seven "I" men around which to build his track team and led by Captain Pope the Crimson had a well-balanced team by the time season opened up. The first meet with the Ohio State at Bloomington was won by the close score of 66.5 to 59.5. Heuring was the star for Indiana, winning three firsts. Hit hard by enlistments in the army, Indiana could only send an eleven-man team against Northwestern, at Evanston. But, notwithstanding, the men made the strong Northwestern team go some and held them to a 57 to 78 score. Indiana representatives at the Conference meet on June 7th at Chicago scored three and one-half points.

SPENCER G. POPE
Track Captain

BYRON N. HEURING

The biggest point getter on the team was Heuring, who scored fifteen points in the Ohio State meet, thirteen against Northwestern and three in the Conference meet. He also took second place in the Conference indoor meet. He is recognized as one of the fastest men in the Middle West in the dashes. Heuring holds the State High School record in the 440-yard dash. He has enlisted in the Navy at Municipal Pier, Chicago, and his loss will be keenly felt this year.

The man who is expected to fill Heuring's place this year is "Mat" Collier. He hails from Kansas and was the star of the Freshman team. He made Heuring "step out" several times last year and is expected to make a name for himself and Indiana in Conference circles this year.

PROSPECTS FOR 1918

ARTHUR MOGGE
Cross-Country Captain '17

ARTHUR R. MOGGE was captain of the cross-country team for 1917. Ray Briggs has been chosen captain for next fall.

The prospects for the track team look promising for this spring. We are very fortunate in having the valuable services of Dana M. Evans for coach. No letter men in track are in school, but Collier and Briggs in the dashes, Bullock and Inlow in the pole-vault, and Pierce in the weights, are valuable men from the last year's Freshman Varsity.

TRACK SCHEDULE

- March 22-23.—Conference Indoor Meet at Evanston.
- May 4.—DePauw at Bloomington.
- May 11.—Open.
- May 18.—Ohio State at Columbus, O.
- May 25.—Open.
- June 8.—Conference Meet at Chicago.

VARSITY TRACK SQUAD

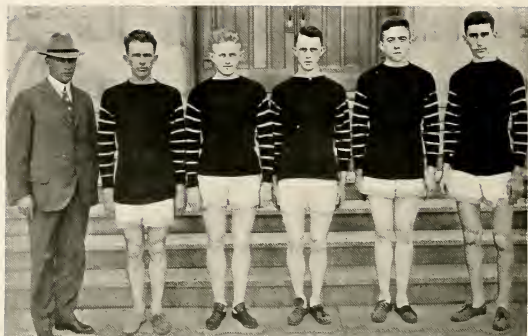

Indiana won the track meet from DePauw on May 4 by the score of 85 to 55, but lost to Ohio State at Columbus 67 to 59. The feature of the latter meet was the taking of firsts in the hundred, two twenty, and quarter mile by Collier, Mugg in the two-mile, Purcell in the broad jump, Bullock and Inlow in the pole vault, took first places at the Ohio meet.

Two Indiana records on the home track were broken this year, Mogge making the two-miles in 10:19, four seconds less than the previous record; Collier lowered the 220 record to 21.4.

Collier and Briggs made excellent showing in the dashes at the Indoor Conference Meet held at Chicago March 23.

First Row—
Ferguson (trainer), Yager, Loomis, Pierce, Dunlap, Mogge, Evans (coach).

Second Row—
Clymer, Purcell, Collier, Inlow, Bullock, Swayne, Briggs, Osborne.

Evans (coach) Swayne Briggs Payton Osborne Mogge (captain)

VARSTY CROSS COUNTRY

With very little material with which to work Coach Evans turned out a Cross Country Team that made an excellent showing against the strong Ohio State aggregation. Arthur Mogge was elected captain.

The principal meet was the one with Ohio State at Bloomington on November 1st. The race started at the Assembly Hall, covered five miles and ended at the Golf Links, with Ohio State at the long end of a 37 to 18 score. The time was 26 minutes and 50 seconds.

WRESTLING

WRESTLING was hit as hard by the war as any of the other sports, and only three of last year's team that won second honors in the Western Inter-Collegiate Meet returned to school. Hook, Dalzell and Stormont formed the nucleus around which Coach Rathbun built his team—with Hook as captain for the second time.

The wrestling schedule which originally included Illinois, Purdue and Northwestern was badly damaged when each of these teams cancelled their meets. Northwestern waited until the team had weighed in and was at the station to catch the train for Evanston before telegraphing their cancellation.

A western trip to Ames, Iowa, on March 2d, and Iowa University at Iowa City on March 4th. Ames won 16 to 5. The Crimson braced against the Iowa University team, however, and were defeated only 11 to 10. Dalzell and Stormont both secured falls.

under the direction of E. C. Davis, former Indiana coach, next came to Bloomington for a 15-to-0 defeat.

VARSITY WRESTLING SQUAD

Under the skillful coaching of Guy Rathbun, Indiana had a creditable wrestling team. Indiana was represented in the Western meet at Ames and Iowa by Stormont in the 175-lb. class, Mumby in the 158-lb., Dalzell in the 145-lb., Hook in the 135-lb., and Young in the 125-lb. class.

GOLF

THE University is especially fortunate in having a golf course which, although almost new, has been improved until it is now in excellent condition. The popularity of the game has spread among faculty and students until the course is now almost continually in use during the spring and summer months. The scene in the above picture is an almost daily occurrence and proves that the men are not the only ones who are interested in the game and know how to play it. The girls, as well, are becoming adepts and can do the course in "bogey" with the best of them. The Golf Club has quite an extensive membership, and several championship matches are being planned for this spring.

THE FRESH-SOPH CLASS SCRAP

HERE are a couple of scenes from the annual Freshman-Sophomore Class Scrap, which is held each year before the first football game of the season. Instead of the old-time free-for-all fight, there has been substituted the safer, but more decisive push ball contest. The idea is for one side to push the ball over for a touch down against the other. The Freshmen are here seen to be getting the better end of the bargain, and for once have it on the "Sophs." The picture below probably explains the reason, for it will be plainly seen that the Freshmen have superior numbers by about three to one.

THE INDIANA DAILY STUDENT

The earliest copies of "The Indiana Student" in preservation are dated 1867. The paper then was an eight-page sheet, published under the auspices of the Senior and Junior classes. The publication was abandoned for a time during the seventies. In 1882 it was revived by Prof. W. J. Bryan (now President Bryan), W. W. Spangler and Clarence Goodwin.

One of the editors in 1885-86 was Ernest P. Bicknell, now of international fame in connection with the Red Cross. Professor C. J. Sembower was one of the editors in 1891-1892, and Bursar U. H. Smith held a like honor the following year. In 1893 "The Student" was changed from a monthly to a weekly and took on more of the character of a newspaper. In 1897 it was made a semi-weekly, and a year later became a daily. Since that time "The Student" has moved into a building of its own with equipment and machinery second to none in the Middle West, and is now one of the best among college newspapers.

Those in charge of "The Student" during the past year were:

First Semester

J. Wymond French Editor-in-Chief
 Frederick Farr Business Manager

Second Semester

Ralph W. Winslow Editor-in-Chief
 B. Louise Hervey Business Manager

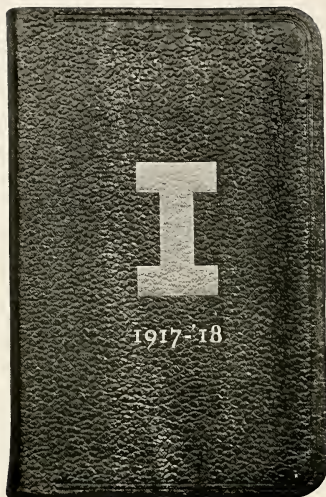

Top Row—Sallade, Butler, Plogsther, Wheeler, Mays, Winslow.

STAFF OF THE INDIANA DAILY STUDENT

The Indiana Daily Student Staff is organized on the same basis as that of a metropolitan daily. It is composed of about forty members to whom work on the Student affords valuable practical training in journalism.

Beginning with the Summer Session, during which the paper was published semi-weekly, it has been important to note that the Coeds have taken more active places in the business and editorial affairs of the paper. At this time Louise Hervey assumed the reins of Business Manager and was largely responsible for the summer editions. Coeds have charge, at present, of the duties of Business Manager, Managing Editor, Feature Editor, and the Copy Editors.

The Service Flag of the office has twenty-one stars for men who have entered the service since the entrance of the United States into the war.

THE RED BOOK

The one "best seller" on the campus is the Red Book. It is the most used as well as the most useful book from the student's standpoint. This year's Book was put out by William R. Stuart and was classed by the Indiana Daily Student as follows:

"Not because it is customary to say so, but because the fact is self-evident, do we make the assertion that the 1917-18 Red Book is bigger and better than ever. All features of last year's edition have been revised and corrected—made more complete in every respect—and new features have been added to make the edition more than ever a student "bible" of complete information."

Among the new features were: The home address of each student; the student directory pages, containing the name, rank in school, home address and Bloomington address and telephone number of every student; an organization directory, containing the name, address, telephone number and president of each organization; a complete roll of the members of each organization; a directory of all college boarding houses, with their addresses and purveyor; a "hiker's guide," and the Conference basketball schedule.

WILLIAM R. STUART, the editor-in-chief and business manager of the Red Book, has had considerable experience in such work, being a member of the staff of the Daily Student for two years and Bloomington correspondent for the Associated Press. He was on the staff of the 1915 and the 1916 Arbutus, associate editor of the 1917 Book and is the president of the Board of Business Managers for this year. He also is a member of the Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Phi and Sigma Delta Chi fraternities.

THE INDIANA UNION

The Indiana Union is the big democratic organization of the University, composed of nearly every man in school. It represents the student in its biggest undertakings.

The Union conducts a high class and expensive Entertainment Series in which some of the best talent of the day is presented to the students for a nominal price. A barber shop and pool room are maintained in the Student Building for the benefit of the members.

This organization has endeavored to increase its powers and widen its scope for usefulness in the last year. It is the ambition of the Union to have a home of its own on the campus by the time Indiana University celebrates her centennial in 1920.

THE SPHINX CLUB

The Sphinx Club is an organization composed of thirty upper classmen selected from the Greek-letter fraternities. A baseball game in the spring is usually selected as the time for the spiking committee to make its way through the crowds and tie the black and white ribbons of the club on the persons chosen. The organization is purely social, and was organized about seven years ago by the Book Nookers of that day.

The Club members' claim to distinction is based upon the hats they wear. The black and white hat of winter and the white and black hat of spring are alike clamorous, and announce the approach of the wearer while he is still some way off.

Fred S. Weicking is president of the organization this year.

T H E Y. M. C. A.

It has been the aim of the Young Men's Christian Association during the past year to do its full part in helping to win the war. Association officers were among the first to respond to the country's call. Former General Secretary T. A. Rymer is now Assistant Camp Secretary of Army Y. M. C. A. at Ft. Sill, Okla., in charge of a force of forty men. Chas. F. Thompson resigned the presidency to enlist and is now in France. E. Arlo Byrum resigned the vice-presidency to become Y. M. C. A. Recreational Secretary at Camp Taylor, Kentucky. Other Cabinet men in service are: P. R. Hightower, Mike, Blew and Floyd Reynolds.

The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. organized a campaign and together raised over $10,000 on the campus for the Students' Friendship War Fund.

Social service work was not neglected. Gospel teams were organized and sent out. A successful "Poor Kids' Christmas Party" was held. This affair led to the organization of a Sunday school for poor boys, which meets each Sunday afternoon in the City Hall.

An intensive University-wide Bible Study Course was conducted. A permanent Y. M. C. A. Quartette was organized. Weekly meetings for men were held on the campus.

PHI Delta Phi, the pioneer legal fraternity, was founded at the Law School of the University of Michigan in 1869 and for over three decades enjoyed the distinction of being the only fraternity in the legal field.

At present forty-six active chapters are located at leading American Law Schools and strong Alumni organizations now exist in seventeen of our larger cities.

Foster chapter was installed at Indiana University Law School in 1900. In keeping with the National character of the fraternity, membership in the chapter is based primarily upon scholarship. The fraternity enjoys comfortable rooms in Maxwell Hall.

Since the organization of Gamma Eta Gamma it has grown rapidly among those schools which require the accredited two years pre-law work, and three years of law work for the Bachelor of Law degree. Scholarship and prominence in school activities are considered in eligibility for membership.

The local chapter of the organization was organized in 1911.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY MEDICAL

THE EVOLUTION OF THE INDIANA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

EVERY student of Indiana University School of Medicine should be familiar with the early history of medical education in this State. Otherwise he will not appreciate the harmony and coöperation which now exist and which are in marked contrast to the old days when rivalry and competition among the different schools were so keen as to lead to a temporary estrangement among the members of the profession. This, together with the fact that the clinical facilities and advantages were divided, was a great handicap to medical education and little permanent good was accomplished.

There existed, only a few years ago, three distinct and well recognized medical schools in Indiana. The one at Fort Wayne, called the Fort Wayne College of Medicine, organized in 1879, exerted for many years a profound influence for the advancement of medical learning throughout northern Indiana. The Central College of Physicians and Surgeons was organized in Indianapolis in 1879 and had for its president for many years the late Dr. Joseph Eastman, an eminent abdominal surgeon and gynecologist. The Medical College of Indiana was founded in 1868 under the presidency of John S. Bobbs, the leading Indiana surgeon of his day and the father of the modern surgery of the gall bladder.

These three schools were united in 1905 and became the School of Medicine of Purdue University, the State thus taking over the burden of educating its future doctors of medicine. This venture was not a complete success and in 1906 a new school, called the State College of Physicians and Surgeons, opened its doors. The following summer this school became an integral part of the State University and was known as Indiana University School of Medicine. Soon after this, the School of Medicine of Purdue University united with this State School, and thus, after a period of storm and stress, the hopes of the profession for one large medical school were realized and the advantages of different schools in teaching, equipment, and clinical facilities were combined.

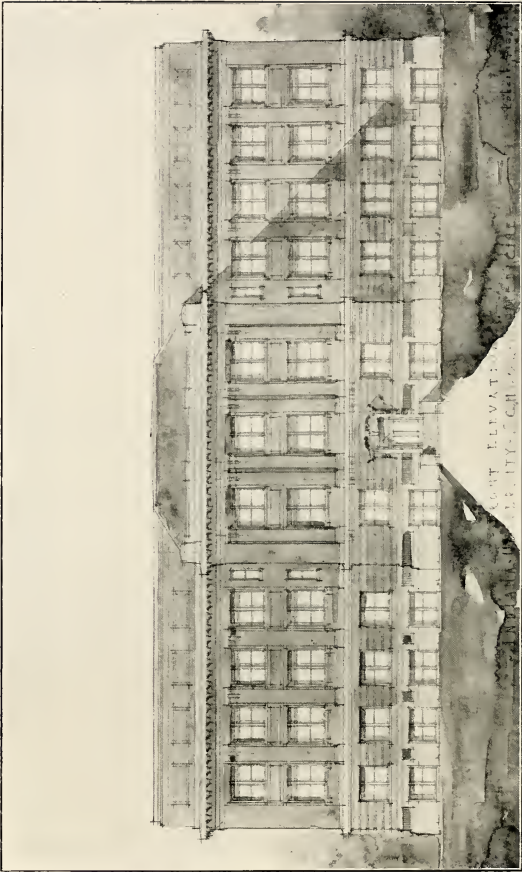

STUDENTS AT INDIANAPOLIS

So today we find the entire medical education of the State centered in one institution possessing clinical facilities at the Bobbs Dispensary, the City Hospital and the Robert W. Long Hospital, unexcelled by any medical school, and a faculty numbering among its members the best in the State, as well as splendid full-time teachers brought in from other schools. In a short time this school will be housed in one of the best medical school buildings in the Middle West, having at its very door a teaching hospital over which it has complete control. It is hoped that within a short time a closer relationship will be formed between the University and the City Hospital, a relationship which would be not only for the interest of the medical students, but also for the patients, for "where students are best taught how to treat their patients, here the patients receive the best treatment."

It is interesting to know that although three years ago St. Louis University had $5,000,000 worth of new buildings and Cincinnati had $3,500,000 worth of new buildings and although entrance requirements for Indiana University were more rigid than that of the other schools, nevertheless the enrollment of this school equalled the enrollment of the other two added together. This shows the confidence the students have in the medical department of their State University.

It is with great assurance that we say that the outlook of Indiana University School of Medicine for the future is exceptionally bright. Indiana University will continue to turn out men who will be fully competent to safeguard the health and life of any community in which they may choose to reside.

FRONT ELEVATION NEW MEDICAL BUILDING

THE NEW MEDICAL SCHOOL BUILDING

The new building planned for Indiana University School of Medicine, for the erection of which contractors now are bidding, is to be located northeast of the Robert W. Long Hospital, at Hiawatha and North streets, on the plot of ground (sixteen and one-half acres) purchased by the State for Indiana University. Its general shape will be like a "T", the leg of the "T", or front wing, facing south. The east and west wings measure 177 feet by 56 feet, while the front wing will be 52 feet by 58 feet. There will be five stories and a basement. The entire building will be fireproof, being made of steel and reinforced concrete. It will correspond in architecture to that of the Long Hospital and will provide ample room for three classes of one hundred students each.

In the basement will be located the heating and ventilating apparatus, a large receiving room for the freight and a cadaver room. A tunnel leads from an elevator on North Street to the basement.

The ground floor will be used entirely for dispensary and social service departments. The surgical department will consist of two operating rooms separated by a nurses' room and examining room. Three rooms have been provided for genito-urinary and also gynecology, both departments using a common laboratory and supply room for pediatrics. The medical department will have a demonstration room, a laboratory, three examining rooms and a room for mental and nervous diseases. The eye department will have two large rooms, and the ear, nose and throat, two. Obstetrics and prenatal will have three rooms.

In the front wing of the "T" will be located the pharmacy, the dispensary office, the social service department, fireproof stairways, elevator, and a large patients' waiting room. The patients will enter from Hiawatha Street into this large waiting room, which opens back into a large corridor waiting room.

The first floor will be nine and one-half feet above the ground level. In the front wing of this floor on one side of the corridor will be located the dean's office. On the other side will be a large general office.

The vestibule from the front entrance will have a marble floor and marble wainscoting. This wing will be shut off from the rear wing by two pairs of doors.

The first, second and third floors of the rear wing will be devoted entirely to the school purposes. On the first floor at the east end there will be a large laboratory for clinical diagnosis, 82 feet by 22 feet and a lecture room 82 feet by 22 feet. On the second and third floors, directly above, similar rooms will be provided for the departments of pathology and pharmacology. To the west on these floors there will be located specimen rooms, special research laboratories and laboratories for assistants and professors. On the first floor to the west there will be a large library and stock room. On the top floor, in the central part, there will be a large operating room, lighted from above by skylights and also north windows. Adjoining this on the east there will be a "scrub up" room and on the west a sterilizing and etherizing room. At each end of this floor will be located rooms for dogs and smaller animals. Feed and store rooms are lighted from above through skylights to prevent noise. The dogs are provided with a large open concrete runway.

In the front wing, occupying the second and third floors, there will be a large auditorium with a balcony on three sides. The seating capacity will be 500. It will be lighted from three sides, will have an ornamental plaster ceiling, will be fireproof, and will have an inclined floor. The lecture platform will extend back into the rear wall of the auditorium as a vestibule and will be decorated with an ornamental-plaster arch, with panels and arched ceilings. Ample exits and fire escapes will be provided for the balcony and main floor.

The building will be mechanically heated and ventilated. The lighting and equipment will be of the latest improved designs. A monster clock system will be installed throughout the building, controlled from the main office. Telephone and watchman systems will also be installed.

The plans also call for a power house, to be located back of the hospital facing North Street. This is to be a one-story brick building with basement 91 feet by 98 feet in dimensions. It will contain boiler rooms, fuel rooms, large laundry, refrigerating and ice-making machinery. It will provide light and power for both the hospital and the medical school and is planned with the view of extending east or west as the future needs may require.

The estimated cost of these buildings will be about $400,000. It is hoped that work can be begun immediately and rushed to completion in time for school next fall.

LILLY BASE HOSPITAL No. 32

THE PART OUR MEDICAL SCHOOL IS PLAYING IN THE WAR

INDIANA has no reason to be ashamed of the part her medical school is playing in this war. Practically the entire student body of the medical school is now in the service, but detailed by Surgeon General Gorgas to finish their medical courses. Last year she gave one-third of her senior class to the navy. These men are making good with such a vengeance, both in the hospitals and upon the battleships, that the surgeon general is now calling for more men of the same caliber. The Lilly Base Hospital No. 32 is made up almost entirely of Indiana men. In all, Indiana University School of Medicine has given thirty-five of her faculty and about one hundred and fifty of her alumni to the service. Too much space can not be given these men, who have sacrificed all the joys and comforts of home, have given up their offices and practices and are now offering their lives if necessary in order to lessen the sufferings of our boys at home and across the sea.

The demand for trained medical men was never before so great. From across the sea, both from England and France, has come the call for doctors. Our army wants thousands of doctors, and so our medical schools have been compelled to "speed up". Indiana University School of Medicine was one of the first schools chosen by the Government to "speed up", and has been designated as a war college. Classes will continue throughout the summer and our next year senior class will graduate in February.

The men in the service are not the only ones who are helping out in the war. Indiana men back home are working night and day on the different examining boards in order that the men who are sent to the front may be physically fit. Our faculty is spending every ounce of energy it can muster in training students for the service.

A most important part of the medical branch of the service is the examination of the registrant to see whether he is really physically fit to go into the army or navy. The word of the registrant cannot always be taken, so special examining boards had to be created, consisting of the best men of the different specialties, having at their disposal all the various laboratory tests, x-ray, cystoscope, etc. In Indianapolis there are two such boards, called medical advisory boards. Dr. Samuel Earp, Clinical Professor of Medicine of Indiana University, is chairman of Board No. 1, while Dr. Henry F. Beckman, Associate Professor of Obstetrics in our School, is chairman of Board No. 2. These boards take care of all cases referred from other cities, cases from local boards in which the registrant appeals from local boards for physical examination. They have examined men from every State in the Union and have had under their observation a remarkable variety of medical cases. Each board consists of about ten men who are specialists in their different lines, one dentist and seven assistants. The adjutant general of the State and the conscription agent can refer cases to these boards.

THE SKELETON CLUB

THE Skeleton Club is a local organization of medical and pre-medical students in the University. Its purpose is to bring all those interested in the study of medicine in closer contact with each other. The faculty members of the School of Medicine at Bloomington, under the influence of a desire to help their students, give strong support to the Skeleton Club. Meetings are held every second Tuesday evening, unless there happens to be a coal shortage, as was the case this year. At the meetings there is always a prominent medical or scientific man as guest and speaker.

The annual Skeleton Club dance, which is one of the most important social functions of the year, was not held, owing to the barring of all organization dances by the committee. During the past school year the membership has reached the one hundred and twenty-five mark. The members last fall chose Fred Gifford, President; Robert Millis, Vice-President; Walter Moenning, Secretary; Sidney Aronson, Treasurer.

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

Indiana University is one of the few schools in the country having in connection, as an integral part of the University, a Training School for Nurses. There is no better way in which the University can serve the State than by turning out nurses who are adequately prepared for the profession which at all times commands our esteem, and just now our admiration. The didactic courses are given by the faculties of the Medical School and of the College of Liberal Arts, and the practical training is obtained at the Robert W. Long Hospital. Miss Maude Miller is acting superintendent of the training school and Miss Nellie Brown is instructor. Out of the ten numbers of this year's senior class it is possible that six will not be in the graduating exercises, as they have enlisted for Red Cross work and by that time expect to be in active service.

No Arbutus is complete without mentioning the valuable work being done by the Department of Social Service, under the direction of Miss Edna G. Henry. The greater part of the work of this department of our University is given in connection with the Bobbs and the Indianapolis Free Dispensary and the Robert W. Long Hospital, which provide the practical or laboratory material for the instruction of students, but lectures are also given in connection with the courses in Sociology at Bloomington.

The work of the department is two-fold. It serves as a connecting link between the dispensary or hospital physician and the patient in his home environment. Upon the recognition of this environment, and oftentimes upon its alteration, depends the ultimate cure of the patient. In the effort to effect this needed change the department comes face to face with social conditions, the study of which forms the basis of its educational work with patients, students and the general public.

Medical social service is one of the many expressions of modern preventive medicine, and the Social Service Department, while a separate teaching department of the College of Liberal Arts, finds in its cooperation with the School of Medicine its opportunity for the study of those social ills with which it concerns itself, at the same time contributing its share to that field of activity through which so many social reforms have been brought about.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

THE old Press Club became Indiana Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi in the spring of 1913. The new organization is an honorary Greek Letter fraternity of national scope for college men who intend to make journalism a profession.

Rho chapter stages the annual "Blanket Hop" to raise funds to buy "I" blankets for the seniors of the football team who have played three years, and the evening of the annual homecoming game is always reserved for this big hop. Sigma Delta Chi had the privilege of staging the first dance ever held in the New Gymnasium, which proved also the largest ever held in the University, when the 1917 "Blanket Hop" was held upon the night of the Purdue game.

PHI DELTA KAPPA

PHI Delta Kappa originated as Pi Kappa Mu at Indiana University in 1906, under the guidance of Professor Bergstrom. Chapters are found in twenty of the leading Universities of the United States. Its aim is to encourage research in education, both in and out of the University.

College Life

FRATERNITIES

BETA THETA PI

Indiana Pi Chapter Founded: In the Upper Andes by a Still Stream. Class D.
Founders and Prominent Owners
Baird's Manuel, Stonewall Jackson, Oliver P. Morton

Each fall the Beta survivors send over to Auld for another gross of pledge pins and start out to do what they can to the human race. No one has yet been able to decipher their pledge system. Some maintain that red cheeks are a striking feature. The Beta pin has two sides, the front and back. All the pins are jeweled, though some carry a headlight. Frank Harkins, Bob Stempfel, and Donald Smith, prior to his return in his middie blouse, kept the boys in the running. For a while the Betas had the best knitting team in the conference but they didn't win the basketball tournament. Pink and blue are alleged to be the fraternity's colors. The blue is apparent. The Betas inhabit a house on East Third Street. Its plastering is on the outside and it is run like a hotel.

PHI DELTA THETA

Indiana Alpha Chapter Founded: Yes. Class X.
W. K. Men
Benjamin Harrison, Lewis K. Murchie, Julius Cæsar

The Phi Deltas are the only fraternity that maintains a country home at Indiana. Each man owns his own mode of communication with the city and Tom Huffs. The Deltas get their mail at the Book Nook and some of them can read it. Contrary to custom, one of the brothers decided to take a bath during Christmas vacation and left the water turned on for the house. The cost was about seven hundred dollars and three weeks' "boarding round" for the boys. The gang always goes armed, having a nice sword as a prominent part of the pin. Outside of its men in the Sphinx Club the membership wears high boots and sweaters during eight months of the year. A drive out to the Phi Delt house is one of the noted Sunday afternoon amusements of the University.

SIGMA CHI

Indian Lambda Chapter Founded: On The Third Crusade. Class, 1A (Draft).
Leaders
W. J. Bryan, Carrie Nation

The one outstanding feature of the Sigma Chi bunch is the fact that they sleep in double decker beds, when they are able to find their way home. The house is nicely located adjacent to the campus and only a block and a half from the Nook. Somewhere in the Sig coat-of-arms is the word "hoc". This should not be confused with any similar word in any dead language. In fact, the majority of the wearers of the cross are from America. Many of the familiar faces have been taken away, but Ed Ridley remains as a guardian angel to the group and the baseball team. The boys are a likable bunch though it is said they have to open a new keg for bathing purposes every now and then.

PHI KAPPA PSI

Indiana Beta Chapter Founded: Bloomington. Class ?
Leaders
Woodrow Wilson, Sev Buschmann

The "Hotel de Phi Psi" is the most prominent building between Alpha Hall and the Delta Tau house. It is built of brick, stone and some other things, and is supported by a nice earth, eight thousand miles in diameter, which the Phi Psis are said to own. This must be taken on faith, but will be supported by the oath of any one of them. As a rule, the organization pledges the Union Board in the fall and then kids itself along until the basketball tournament, when a general scramble ensues. John McFaddin assisted many of the children into the R. O. T. C. and it is said the Phi Psi dining room has a very pleasing appearance when all the officers sit down together. The Phi Psis maintain their own tennis court. The University keeps one, too. The pin is shield or a shovel.

The Phi Gams occupy one of the finest of the college buildings but it is said that they don't cut their front lawn often enough. If it weren't for the number of Delta Gammas that have to pass by there going down to the postoffice and so forth the Phi Gam front porch wouldn't be so popular. The third day color of a black eye is the Fiji color and the pin is in the general shape of a tombstone or half a brick or anything. The heliograph is the fraternity flower. Judging again from the front lawn, it might be said to be the dandelion. The Phi Gams are noted for Sunday night Vic parties, and "Hiene" Blattman and "Johnny" Johnson, president of the Sophomore class. Blattman is in the law school part of the time. The older members of the group enjoy a great deal of popularity, besides having dates at the Theta house.

Technically, the Delts pass the Phi Psis. They pass them every day twice. Once when they go down town before breakfast and once when they come back. The Delta Taus live in the last house before arriving in Brown county and are proud of it. Their dormitory is divided into two parts and most of the fellows are assigned regular beds. The Bloomington fire department is a regular guest at the house. He drops in most any time for a chat with the boys. The Delts give house dances and alarm clocks as favors. One of them is being rushed Phi Beta Kappa. He only conned six hours. Since Deac Sellers left, Art Browne has had to maintain the honor of the fraternity. The Delts never paddle their freshmen. This year they are using only thirty-two of their fifty-seven varieties of pledge buttons.

When the fellows can get away from the Student and Arbutus office the Sigma Nus have fraternity meetings at their spacious apartments on Kirkwood Avenue. Those that aren't on the Student play fraternity basketball. With the absence of Kenyon Stevenson this year the remainder of the fraternity has had to do its best about running the University, but "Lefty" Stuart has done nobly. An extra page was added to the Arbutus for his benefit. The Sigma Nus are a harmless crew, as is shown by their picture. They have an enviable reputation as far as pledging goes. It used to be said that only about sixty per cent. of their spikes turned them down, but by dint of hard work this average has been reduced to fifty-eight. The greater part of the men in the gang are enrolled in the University.

The Kappa Sig house is red with green trimmings. The Kappa Sigs have green grass on their lawn to keep up with their color scheme. During the basketball tournament they sent their freshmen over to the Union rooms to sleep on the pool tables. However, Isenhower has a pretty good bunch. He gives a week-end party for the crew once a year at some nice Martinsville sanatorium. The Kappa Sig is a whole lot like the Tri Delts but the Kappa Sigs lack enough stars. Besides being represented by a member of the Pan-Hel council, several of the prominent members of the fraternity belong to the Union and Y. M. C. A.

The S. A. E. gang is as shrinking as is their chosen flower—the violet. It was at one time maintained that the S. A. E.'s never lost a spike, but it is now said that they never turn down a rushee. This is probably a bit overdrawn. Each man as he returns to school in the fall brings a nice long prop with him from the farm to put under the side of the house. The Beta house helps to hold the S. A. E. affair upright. Four of the pillars of the fraternity are on the front porch. The house sets a ways back from the street, but the barn is very convenient to the alley. The S. A. E. pin is much like the ace of diamonds. The motto of the fraternity was sought after, but "Dutch" Weiking said he didn't think they had one unless it was "Open another one."

The A. T. O.'s have one of the best pictures in the book if it wasn't for their oldest living member that appears in the lower right-hand corner. The crew lives down town across from a church and handy to the police station. The Military Section of the Arbutus is largely A. T. O. through the pictures of Charlie Thompson, which are almost as prominent as he was. The organization indulges in other college sports besides dancing and is known to be fond of hiking. The pin is a double cross. Someone asked Weinhardt the other day what A. T. O. stood for and he said that he had been through the initiation eight times and he hadn't found out yet. Alpha Tau is one of the organizations that does not maintain a house. The home has to be seen to be appreciated.

Delta U is non-secret. It can't be secret and live where it does on Fifth Street. Most of the members come from Linton, but one of the boys never saw a coal mine in his life. The D. At one time during the year a rumor was afloat that the fraternity would actually give a dance. Nothing developed.

(And Proud Of It)

Theta is the oldest sorority here. This casts no reflections on its members. The emblem of the girls is a kite. Just why a kite should be chosen for a sorority emblem is beyond the undersigned, but if the thousand or so Thetas at Indiana want it, a kite it is. The Thetas have an iron-bound rule on pledging—they never put the ribbons on more than they rush. Several of the better known members have a fine time finding out which fraternity pin goes best with theirs. The war has injured the gang. All are nearly broke since the engraved invitations have begun to roll in. The Thetas have established branch banks in several parts of the city.

"The little Kappa ladies" have their residence in Sorority Alley, but most of them hang out around the Nook whenever possible. The organization boasts a ceiler g. par eminence and has attained State-wide fame in women's athletics. When not rushing the Phi Psis, the bunch gets together and invites down a number of rushees. All the Delta Gammass don't want, they take. No one has a thing against the Kappas though they do say the Garrick Club sisters find the opposition kind-a strong. The sorority picture takes on the nature of a checker board. Rumor has it that the sorority made one hundred and seven dollars and six cents on its table this year, so many of the girls ate at the Chinks and the cafeteria.

The local Pi Phi Chapter is a branch office of the Alpha Taus. The pin of the organization is an arrow. This doesn't mean that the members are speedy in any sense. They are seen to dart about the campus considerably, though. The Pi Phis have a perfectly terrible time each fall filling up their big house, but they usually manage to do so by the middle of the semester. On approaching the Pi Phi House, it is best to go carefully. The girls have tried to hide it and it surprises one to run into it too unexpectedly. The organization maintains a grand porch swing and other things.

THETA CHAPTER

1086, Please.

Each January the Delta Gamma Chapter resolves to go over and join the Y. W. C. A. in a body, but they always fall off the wagon and go to another Union dance instead. It has been maintained that whenever D. G. drops her anchor onto a young lady that y. l. is on the road to fame and fortune—yes, and maybe a Beta pin. The Delta Gamma House sits so far back from the street that the Bloomington public lighting system never gets near it. The Delta Gamma front porch is very popular. A Hudson speedster from Martinsville is a great help in rushing, don't you think?

Sorority Alley.

EPSILON CHAPTER

548.

Once a mean man said that Delta Zeta lived more in the alley than in the sorority, but he was mistaken—they divide the time evenly. Delta Zeta had a big fire just before school last fall, so their rushing season was a hot one. They picked up several Indiana girls and are still collecting board from them. The Delta Zeta front porch has been used but once this season, and then the Leota Psi crew didn't get by with the initiation they were trying to pull off.

The Alpha O's are not far from the best sorority in school, geographically speaking. They have hidden away from the busy marts of trade in their suburban bungalow with a fire escape. That fire escape is one of the sights of the Indiana campus. Everyone is waiting breathlessly for a fire in the Alpha O House. The Alpha O's are original, if nothing else, and entertain their dates with refreshments. They buy pictures with the money that would thus go to the Greek's. There are two pine trees in the front yard, but that's the only green thing about the bunch.

They own a talking machine (mechanical).

BASEBALL

Baseball is either a game or a disease. It is played with nine men on one side and nine on the other, though as a rule the guys on the other side are a bunch of dubs or, if they beat us, a bunch of lucky stiff. The rule book is emphatic about the nine men part, but it is also emphatic about an umpire, who must be present in person or by proxy. He usually makes the tenth man for one side or the other. If he's for the home team, he has a good eye. If he's for the other bunch he's a bum, a robber, and ought to be rocked out of town. The idea of baseball is for the pitcher, the man who throws the ball off the hill down on Jordan Field, to see how many times he can hit a bat that another man, on the other team, holds out before him. It's a funny game for, as soon as he begins to hit the guy's bat too often, some one takes him out and another pitcher starts. Some men are born baseball players, but others never start until they are dead from the neck up. A baseball team is rated according to the amount of noise it makes while it is on the playing field. This is known as pep. Baseball takes a good arm, but not quite as good as driving an auto with one hand. However, we aren't saying a thing about Indiana's baseball teams. They seldom have one. Baseball games usually start in the spring, but a good share of them end up in a riot. Baseball is said to be the American sport, but "rollin' your own" is rapidly displacing it.

THE MODERN GIRL

(As She is Writtren)

Her eyes leaped out across the room,
 Her lips rushed out to meet him;
 Her white teeth danced from her warm smile,
 Her hand flew out to greet him.
 She? A modern heroine.
 He? A modern hero.
 Of course, before he meets her,
 He first assembles all her parts,
 And then—why then he greets her.

The guy that hasn't a herd of buffalo nickels in his pocket these days can relish the idea of eating his hat.

Don't knock the spring termers. You may teach school yourself some day.

The dry law has done one thing. They used to buy it by the bottle. Now they buy it by the barrel.

No one can deny that the class of 1920 has a wonderful political machine. They carried every office in the Sophomore election, although it required hard work to keep Heine Blattman out of the presidency.

THE CAMPUS

Let us survey the campus. We never took a course under Dr. Hanna, but Washington was a surveyor and we might be great too if we learned how. The campus bounds Bloomington on the east. We might say that it also supports Bloomington. The campus is kept in place by the Phi Gam House, which holds down one corner, and the Jordan, which runs about doing the best it can. Of course the Jordan helps the trees to leave and helps to keep the campus green by reason of ducking. The campus is where you go when you cut a class. You also go there to cut samples for Botany. For every square yard of campus there are two paths and one sign. At the entrance of the campus there is a sign prohibiting speeding. Several offenders have been noticed—but no arrests made as yet. There are a number of buildings on the campus besides Mitchell Hall. The University flag pole and the University flag, when they have one, are a part of the campus. The campus furnishes work for a regiment of janitors who spend the fall in picking up stray leaves and putting them in a soap box, the winter in shoveling snow with a Ford, and the spring in watching the dandelions grow. During the greater part of the spring the campus is yellow. Some have been so bold as to say that the campus is part orchard. One does find a great number of pairs there. During the Garfield Order the campus was dark, but a few of the best scollagers knew the way to the Observatory steps by instinct. But, laying all jokes aside, the campus is the foundation of I. U. learning anyway.
